2016-2020 STRATEGIC PLAN

The new mission statement for ENMU-Roswell is: “Preparing A Diverse Community with the Skills and Education for Success.” Strategic Plan purposes:

- Provide opportunities for completion of certificate and associate awards that lead to advanced degrees and employment
- Prepare individuals for opportunities in higher learning through programs such as Adult Education, secondary enrollment, and outreach services
- Offer personal enrichment and career development opportunities through traditional course work, community education, and customized training as well as services for individuals with disabilities
- Foster direct community and economic development through business and workforce development, partnerships for health and social service outreach, and ever increasing business and community partnerships

The Strategic Plan goals are as follows:

- Goal One: Achieve High-Quality Student-Centered Learning
- Goal Two: Develop Sustainable Programs through Responsible Financial Stewardship
- Goal Three: Embrace Performance-Based Decision Processes
- Goal Four: Promote Institutional Efficiency and Innovation
- Goal Five: Transform our Workforce and Community Connections

The complete strategic plan can be viewed online at: roswell.enmu.edu under the “About” tab.

ROSWELL COMMUNITY LITTLE THEATRE
PRESENTS

Paradise LOST AND FOUND

A COMEDY BY PAT COOK

January

13, 14, 15, 20, 21, 22

“Paradise Lost and Found” by Pat Cook will be directed by Alethea Hartwell. The lost and found department collects all kind of strange things, from abandoned tubas to missing tiaras. They even have a nine year old girl. Confusion ensues as they try to get their department “organized” by the time the “Big Shot” arrives. Performances are scheduled for January 13, 14, 15 & 20, 21,22 at Roswell Community Little Theatre, 1717 S Union. Sum up your holidays with this play. Call 622-1982 or go online to purchase your tickets and reserve your seat.

WHAT'S NEW AT THE LRC

This month's new books in the LRC feature a number of interesting biographies; a book on the late 1960s counter culture; a mystery written in the 1940s that later became a Hollywood noir movie; an author's true tale of the murder of her own daughter in Albuquerque in 1992 and her frantic search for the killer; and a country Christmas song turned into a captivating story based on a real-life Texas street vendor.

Here is a sampling of this month's new titles:

Alfred Hitchcock: a Brief Life, by Peter Ackroyd

Jack M. Campbell: the Autobiography of New Mexico's First Modern Governor, as told to Maurice Trimmer with Charles C. Poling

Witness to the Revolution: Radicals, Resisters, Vets, Hippies, and the Year America Lost Its Mind and Found Its Soul, by Clara Bingham

The Mystery of John Colter: the Man Who Discovered Yellowstone, by Ronald M. Anglin and Larry E. Morris

The Highway Man: a Longmire Story, by Craig Johnson

Pretty Paper: a Christmas Tale, by Willie Nelson with David Ritz

Not Dead Yet: the Memoir, by Phil Collins
One To The Wolves: A Desperate Mother On The Trail of a Killer, by Lois Duncan; Foreword by Ann Rule

Al Capone: His Life, Legacy, and Legend, by Deirdre Bair

The Grand Tour: the Life and Music of George Jones, by Rich Kienzle

SECURITY UPDATE

It is that time of year again, SILLY SEASON! We, in the Security Department, try throughout each semester to educate our patrons about personal safety/security, preventing you from being a victim. I, as well as, my officers have observed (on numerous occasions) open purses, wallets, laptops and even money in plain sight. On any given day, I can walk through our parking areas and have my Christmas shopping done. It can be just that easy. The number of vehicles left unsecured (windows down, doors unlocked) with valuables in plain sight would amaze you. Everyone needs to understand that if you make it easy for unsavory individuals (who do walk through campus) you will become a victim.

Here are a few easy tips to remember:

- 1) Do not leave your purse or wallet in the front seat of your vehicle.
- 2) Place electronics in your trunk or in the rear of your vehicle covered up.
- 3) Never leave loose money (bills) out in the open. Put it in the center console or glove box.
- 4) Book bags, back packs and computer bags also need to be out of open sight.
- 5) Keep your windows closed and LOCK YOUR DOORS!

These simple rules also apply when parked off campus as well. While shopping for that perfect gift, remember to keep your purchases out of sight (trunk or rear of your vehicle covered up).

DON'T BE A VICTIM!!!

66th Commencement

ENMU-Roswell's Sixty-Sixth Commencement was held last Thursday, December 8th at the Roswell Convention and Civic Center with over 200 graduates.

In order to accommodate all graduates and friends/family, two ceremonies were scheduled. The first ceremony recognized graduates receiving associate degrees and graduates from the ENMU campus in Portales receiving bachelor's degrees. The second ceremony recognized New Mexico Youth ChallenNGe Academy graduates and ENMU-Roswell graduates receiving certificates.

Members of the ENMU-Roswell Community College Board, ENMU Board of Regents and Dr. Steven Gamble, ENMU President, attended the ceremony. Youth ChallenNGe cadets served as the Color Guard. The featured speaker was Adrianna Espinoza, candidate for graduation.
