NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. J.S. Elwell becomes ENMU's 10th president since opening in 1934. Since 2012, Dr. Elwell has served as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga. Prior to this, he was provost and special assistant to the chancellor at Auburn University Montgomery from 2010 to 2012. From 2004 to 2010, Dr. Elwell served as the founding dean of the College of Fine Arts and Communication at East Carolina University. He was an administrator at the University of Nebraska (1999-2004), Marshall University from (1996-99), and Mississippi State University (1989-96).

Dr. Elwell holds a Ph.D. in Speech Communication/Theater from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, a master's degree in communication/theatre from the University of Southwestern Louisiana, and a bachelor's in English from California State University.

He said being named president of ENMU was the "fourth best day of my life. Meeting my wife, getting married and having a son were the other three."

His philosophy of life is, "If you don't ask, the answer is always no. If you're willing to work hard and make the sacrifices necessary, there is nothing you can't achieve. You can't measure grit or motivation."

Department Update

WHAT'S NEW AT THE LRC

Summer is almost over and school is back in session at most places around the country. But there are still some new "good leisure reads" on the shelves of the Learning Resource Center. One of them is The Cubs Way: the Zen of Building the Best Team In Baseball and Breaking the Curse, by Sports Illustrated senior baseball writer Tom Verducci. Another is The Force by best-selling author Don Winslow. His last novel, The Cartel, will soon be made into a major motion picture.

Other new selections this month include:

Churchill and Orwell: The Fight for Freedom, by Thomas E. Ricks

Wild Ride: Inside Uber's Quest for World Domination, by Adam Lashinsky

Man's Better Angels: Romantic Reformers and the Coming of the Civil War, by Phillip F. Gura

The Pride of the Yankees: Lou Gehrig, Cary Cooper, and the Making of a Classic, by Richard Sandomir
Long Night Moon: a Novel, by Sue Boggio and Mare Pearl

Otis Redding: An Unfinished Life, by Jonathan Gould
Paradise Valley: a Novel, by C.J. Box

Casa San Ysidro: the Gutierrez/Minge House in Corrales, New Mexico, by Ward Alan Minge

A Sovereign People: the Crises of the 1790s and the Birth of American Nationalism, by Carol Berkin

The Midnight Bell, by Jack Higgins

A Man and His Presidents: The Political Odyssey of William F. Buckley Jr., by Alvin S. Felzenberg

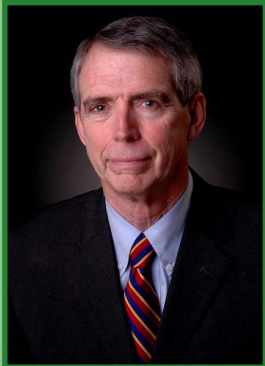

SECURITY UPDATE

The beginning of a semester can be fun, exciting, and even a bit confusing. Unfortunately, even smaller college campuses can pose threats through new experiences and the attitude of "It won't happen to me". Many new students are so excited about their new environment and a new-found independence that they may not see the warning signs of trouble on the horizon. A few simple tips may make all the difference when it comes to how your college experience begins or continues. Some general safety guidelines are as follows:

- Know how to contact campus Security and first responders (police, medic and fire). Campus Security can be reached by dialing 180 or 181 from a campus phone or 575-624-7180 & 575-624-7181 from a regular phone. You can also utilize the emergency phones on campus, they will dial security directly. To call 911 from a campus phone you must first dial 9 then 911, but don't forget to call campus security as well. We can respond faster and help stabilize the situation.
 - Familiarize yourself with the layout of the campus, stick to well-lit paths at night and travel in groups. Another option if you just aren't feeling all that safe, call campus security for an escort to your class, dorm, or car. You might just see us out and about.
 - Be aware of your surroundings at all times! If you are walking through a parking lot, watch for moving vehicles or individuals looking for an opportunity to take advantage others. Keep your keys in hand and ready to use as soon as you arrive at your car or room.
 - Only cross the street only at intersections; don't jaywalk. Use marked crosswalks where available. Never cross in the middle of the street or between parked cars. Just because you have the right-of-way doesn't mean you'll get it. Don't assume a vehicle will stop, even at a stop sign.
 - Turn down your music! With so many portable music players, often you will see people wearing earbuds/ear phones or simply playing their music out loud. Eliminate distractions by lowering the volume level. This will allow you a better chance of avoiding a potentially dangerous situation.
 - Keep a record of serial numbers of electronic devices and pictures with accurate descriptions of valuable items. The Security department can even etch identifying features and maintain photo(s) of your valuable items.
 - And ALWAYS LOCK YOUR DOORS!
- For the above tips and more visit, <http://simplisafe.com/blog/campus-safety-tips> or you can also come by the Safety/Security office to visit with us! We are located between the IC and the ITC building, can't wait to meet you!

Awards & Recognition

Ed Tatum

Ed Tatum, of Clovis, New Mexico, has been appointed by Gov. Susana Martinez to the Eastern New Mexico University Board of Regents.

“He has been a supporter of the University for a number of years and it is entirely appropriate that he be selected to fill the remaining years of his wife’s term,” said Dr. Patterson.

“I cannot think of a more welcome and appropriate appointment. I look forward, as I am sure does the rest of the board, to working with Mr. Tatum. This was an excellent choice!” Mr. Tatum served as the vice president and director of the Curry County United Way from 1972 to 1978 and president and director of the Curry County Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development in 1982. He was a member of the New Mexico Corrections Commission from 1977 to 1980.

He was active duty in the United States Air Force from 1968 to 1972 and an attorney member of the Judge Advocate General Corps for the United States Air Force Reserve from 1972 to 2001.

Congratulations to Kathryn Boydston, the 2017 ENMU-Roswell recipient of the New Mexico Society for Respiratory Care (NMSRC) Cory Sufirin Scholarship. The award is for outstanding academic achievement and professionalism. Boydston was presented with the scholarship certificate and a $250 check from Mavis Williams, Respiratory Therapy Program director. “I am very impressed with Kathryn’s work ethic and determination to figure out solutions on her own,” she said. “She is working very hard at achieving her goal to become a respiratory therapist.”

Kathryn Boydston, recipient and Mavis Williams, RT Director

Cory Sufirin was a Respiratory Therapy educator at UNMH in Albuquerque who died of brain cancer. A scholarship was established not long after his death by the NMSRC. The scholarship was established to assist students in respiratory therapy programs with their education. Each of the respiratory care programs in the state select one worthy recipient.

Graduation News

SPECIAL SERVICES GRADUATION

The ENMU-Roswell Special Services Certificate of Training Program for students with disabilities held its Thirty-First Annual Graduation Ceremony on Thursday, July 27 in the Performing Arts Center on campus. The ceremony recognized 44 graduates of the program. Students received certificates in a variety of program areas such as Food Services, Child Care Attendant, Office Skills, Animal Health Care, Stocking and Merchandising, and Veterinary Assistant. The commencement speaker was Sam White, director of Technology Information and Marketing for Fibertown Data Centers and project manager for the Texas A & M Engineering Extension Service's Product Development Center. Two graduates, Holly Wampler and Miranda Scheidt, and the parent of a graduate, Yvette Werner, were also featured speakers during the ceremony.

The Special Services Certificate of Training Program is designed for students who have disabilities, but with appropriate training, are able to obtain positions in competitive employment.

The mission of the department is to assist with the integration of students with disabilities into the university community and to accommodate those students with the appropriate services necessary to allow full participation in all programs. Graduates leave the program with verification of training (COT), certifications, valuable life experiences, and positive personal growth.

PARAMEDIC GRADUATION

2017 Summer Paramedic Graduates

Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell's EMS Education Program's 52nd Paramedic Class graduated on July 28, 2017. These students spent 14 months of intense training in advanced patient assessment, pharmacology, and management of acute emergencies. Students spent approximately 600 hours in the classroom, 450 hours in clinical rotations, and 225 hours in internship.

The graduates include: Stephen Bechtel, Courtney King, John Lee, Adam Madrid, Shawna Mullins, Lynsey Scholl and Emily Swanner.

These graduates will be testing for their National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians certification exam over the next month and will then license to be Paramedics in the State of New Mexico. These graduates will serve the following communities: Roswell, Ruidoso, Alamogordo, Artesia, and Dexter.
